

March 2017 Jobs with Justice Solidarity Calendar

March is here, which means that spring is just around the corner. Just as the trees, flowers, and other life is set to bloom in a beautiful array of colors and smells, so too is the movement for social, economic, racial, and gender justice experiencing a blossoming that, if cared for and cultivated with intention and purpose, will bear amazing fruit in the months and years to come. We look forward to cultivating justice with you!

End Profiling Legislative Day of Action

Unite Oregon's Legislative Action Day in Salem is coming up on Thursday, March 16, from 9am-3:30pm. The day begins at with free lunch and training at the First Congregational United Church of Christ (700 Marion St NE, Salem 97301). The legislative day of action is an empowering opportunity for community members to raise their voices at the state capitol during the formative 2017 Oregon Legislative Session.

This year Unite Oregon is continuing its important work on ending profiling by law enforcement, and you'll have a chance to talk with elected officials about an important bill that will implement the End Profiling Law that was passed here in Oregon in 2015.
